— Hope Star photos & engravings

MONDAY, JAN. 4, 1899 was notable for two things: Old Man Winter tied the season's coldest mark with 11 degrees above zero — and Bingen Post Office celebrated its 100th birthday with an Open House.

HOPE STAR'S DELEGATION got to Bingen Monday noon — the editor and Paul Rogers, and one of our Speed Graphic cameras, along with a snarl of electronic-flash equipment. Here are the results:

TOP PHOTO — Bingen Post Office, a classic structure from bygone days. While not the original building, the structure in the picture dates back to 1885, a respectable date — Hope itself was broad prairie land before the coming of the Cairo & Fulton Railway (Missouri Pacific) in 1873, and didn't become an incorporated town until 1875.

BOTTOM PHOTO — What would you expect on an 11-degree day? They are crowded around the Post Office stove eating peanuts from a heated pan. Left to right in the picture: E. Knight, C. E. Clingan, Sr., Mrs. L. O. Compton, Glen McLarty, Postmaster Rufus D. Wolff, whose family helped establish the Post Office in 1859; C. M. Hipp, Thurman Poss, and Richard Wolff.

The Bingen Post Office was inaugurated in 1859 under the name of Ozain, switching to the name "Bingen" in 1881. Here is the record:

Established with Charles S. Wolff as postmaster January 4, 1859

James W. Scoggins postmaster, April 1860

The office was discontinued February 11, 1867, but re-established April 19, 1871, with Brice W. Lewis as postmaster

William A. Cantrell was named postmaster December 10, 1898 — but never served.

City Budget Is Increased by Over $35,000

Hope City Directors last night discussed a new budget of $205,017.83 which was adopted last month and represents an increase of $35,618.58 over the $269,401.25 budget for 1958.

The city's income for 1958 from all sources, including $48,000 from the Water and Light plant, totaled $261,482. Thus the city stayed well within its budget last year.

The increase in this year's budget represents the expected increase in revenue during the year.

Judge James H. Pilkinson administered oath of office to directors Herbert Burns, Frank Douglas and L. W. Young and to Roy Anderson, who was reappointed to the Water and Light Plant commission.

The group devoted some time to the selling of fireworks in the city and decided to continue its present policy for the time being. The University of Arkansas planning program was also discussed and the group was told that maps are being prepared.

34 Reportedly Killed in African Riots

LEOPOLDVILLE, Belgian Congo (AP) — Thirty-four people are reported killed and about 100 seriously injured in two days of rioting in Leopoldville, the Belgian Congo capital.

Shops have been set on fire, Catholic missions ransacked, and schools and police headquarters burned out.

Europeans have been stoned and shot at and mission priests have been beaten by the rioting Africans.

Most of the dead were believed to be Africans shot by police or troops.

A state of siege has been proclaimed and jeepsloads of troops armed with machineguns are patrolling the main avenue of the city's large African sector.

Barbed wire barricades have been set up. Firearms have been distributed to the European population.

Road blocks have been set up around the Leopoldville area.

Movement across the river from Brazzaville, in French Equatorial Africa, is stopped.

Troop reinforcements patrolling in armored cars and barbed wire trolley order. But the situation remained highly explosive because native leaders apparently had lost control of their followers.

The riots started Sunday with a political meeting of Congolese at which future independence for the Congo was mentioned. The crowd started shouting, "We want independence now."

The crowd burst out of the African area into the Avenue de Gaulle, a street of low buildings with shops selling goods for Africans. Most of the shops are run by Greeks and Portuguese. The Africans broke into the shops, ransacked them and set them on fire.

The riots were the worst since World War II. Several small riots have occurred lately, indicating unrest among the increasingly politically conscious natives.

West Assured of Access to Berlin

By WARREN ROGERS JR.

WASHINGTON (AP) Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan was reported today to have assured the United States of continued free Western access to Berlin.

Such a pledge would go to the heart of the current East-West tension over Berlin's future. It would signal a major concession by the Kremlin to the West's objections to Soviet demands to make a "free city" of Berlin.

Mikoyan was understood to have told high-level State Department business and congressional leaders Monday night:

The Soviet Union is determined to turn over administration East Berlin to the puppet East German Communist regime, regardless of U.S.-British-French denunciation of the plan.

The Soviet Union is not trying to throw the Allies out of West Berlin even though Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, in a Nov. 27 note, suggested withdrawal of all Allied troops from the city.

The Soviet Union simply feels the time has come 13 years after the end of World War II, to give Berlin a new status.

The United States, Britain and France, in replying last week to Khrushchev's note, were remiss in not coming up with some counter-proposal which might have provided the basis for negotiation.

The Soviet decision to hand East Berlin over to East Germany by next May in no way implies a peace-or-war ultimatum; continued free access to Berlin, 110 miles inside East Germany, could be arranged and a role may be found for the United Nations in play in guaranteeing this.

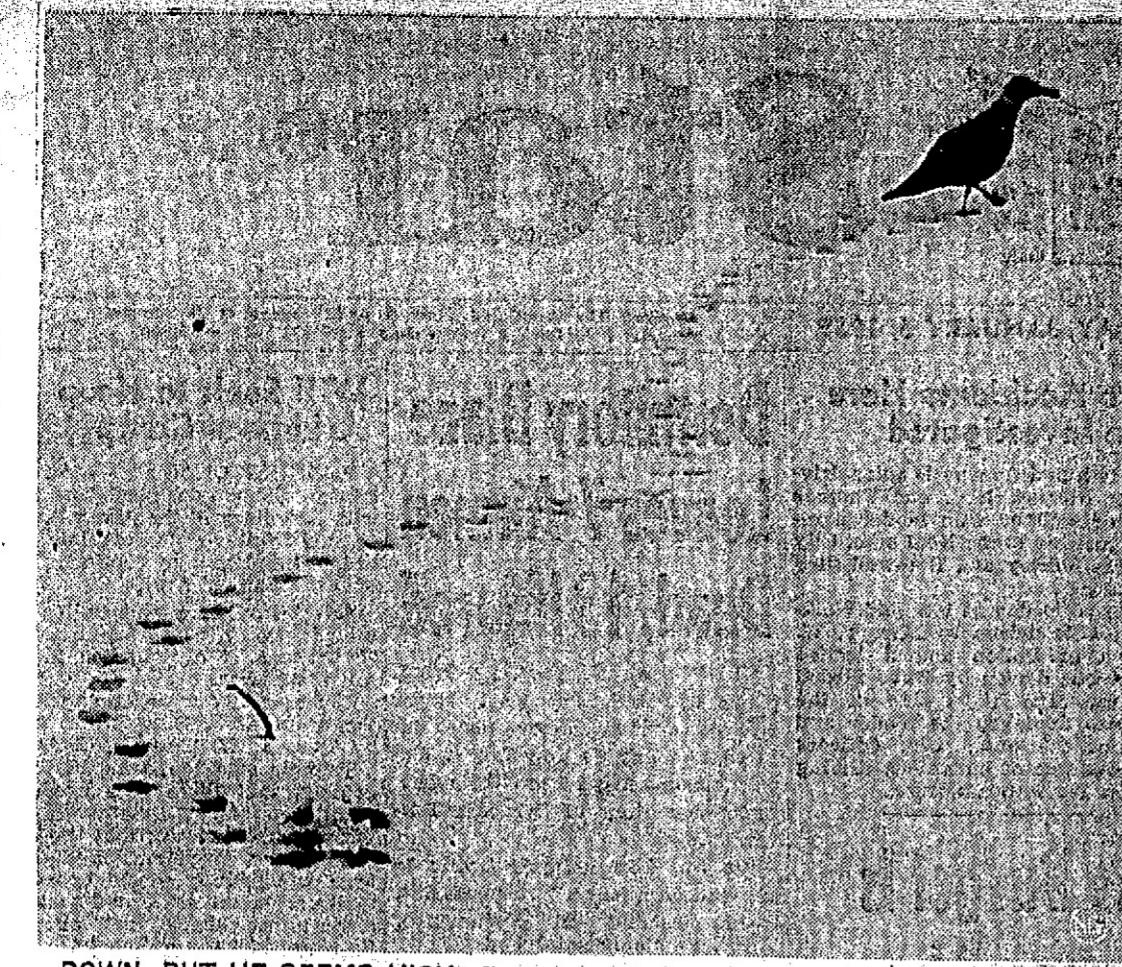

The 63-year-old Mikoyan, second in Kremlin power only to Khrushchev, laid these cards on the table in replying to questions at an exclusive dinner "given" for him by Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Assn. of America.

Johnston was apologetic afterward for inviting some newsmen and letting others shiver outside his swank headquarters in 15-degree temperature. He said the five invited were "personal friends."

Hovering outside also were about 50 anti-Communist pickets, refugees from Iron Curtain countries. Sparked by former Freedom Fighters in Hungary's abortive 1956 revolts they brandished placards, shook fists and screamed in cadence: "Mikoyan the murderer!"

Mikoyan and his party, arriving for the dinner in a Soviet Embassy Cadillac, paid no attention to the pickets.

Mikoyan conferred for 95 minutes with Secretary of State Dulles at the State Department Monday primarily about Berlin. After ward, he said he will talk about Berlin and other tension topics with President Eisenhower on Jan. 19 or 20.

He is due back in Washington Jan. 19 after visiting several American cities. It was learned he will fly at 8 a.m. EST Wednesday to Cleveland to confer with industrialist Cyrus Eaton. The American millionaire recently conferred in Moscow with Khrushchev and Mikoyan.

After Cleveland, Mikoyan goes Thursday to Detroit and Friday to Chicago, with stops later at San Francisco, Los Angeles and New York, Boston and Philadelphia. An expected Dallas visit was tentatively ruled out.

Mikoyan and Dulles used almost identical language in describing their 95 minute noon time talk. Each said they discussed Berlin, the whole German question, disarmament and trade. Informed officials said that was just about the order of importance, with Berlin and Germany hogging most of the time.

These officials also said nothing was decided in the Dulles-Mikoyan meetings. Either Mikoyans out-of-Washington visits, they are expected to come to closer grips with what Mikoyan called a "further exchange of views."

Urged speedily after his arrival in the capital Monday night, Urrutia

Acting quickly after his arrival in the capital Monday night, Urrutia named Jose Miro Cardona, president of the Havana Bar Assn. to be premier of his government.

(2) Announced free elections would be held within 18 months to two years;

(3) Summoned his new cabinet into a post-midnight meeting;

(4) Rescinded the martial law proclamation and curfew extension decreed earlier by the pro-chief for Havana province.

Urrutia flew to Havana from Camaguey following a talk with Fidel Castro, leader of the uprising that ousted Dictator Fulgencio Batista.

Castro continued his victory procession toward Havana with 3,000 of his guerrilla warriors and new supporters from Batista's military forces. He is expected in Havana Wednesday.

Urrutia said the rebel chief prefers to remain outside the cabinet in order that he may observe developments.

The President named additional cabinet officers, bringing it to 11 members, but still had to appoint ministers of defense, communications and interior.

Urrutia also announced his government would not allow gambling, which under Batista had grown to a multimillion dollar business carried on largely by American interests.

Some elements of confusion remained in the government setup that probably will be clarified when Castro arrives.

For the election of the 58-year-old Halleck to the leadership post, Halleck formally announced his candidacy Monday night in opposition to Castro. His move followed a behind-the-scenes drive by a group which contends younger and more aggressive leadership is needed to combat the overwhelming Democratic majority in the new House.

Democrats, also caucusing today, faced no open battles. They were expected without incident to pick Rep. Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) 77 today, for another term as speaker of the House and to return Rep. John W. McCormack (D-Mass.) 67 to the Democratic leadership post.

"We have nothing to worry about in our caucus," Rayburn told newsmen.

Marlin has held his party's top House post for 20 years. During 16 of those years he has been minority leader. In the four years of the 80th and 83rd Congresses controlled by Republicans, he moved up to the speakership and Halleck moved in as party leader.

Halleck took note of his previous service and added, in his statement, that "in view of developments, I will again be a candidate for Republican floor leader." He did not explain his use of the word developments.

Available as possible compromise candidates were Reps. Richard M. Nixon of Pennsylvania, Gerald Ford of Michigan, John Byrnes of Wisconsin, and Leslie Arends of Illinois.

The Martin must-go movement stemmed from heavy Republican congressional losses in the 1958 elections, which trimmed GOP house holdings from 200 to 153.

Many Republicans contend that a more aggressive leadership is needed if the party is to fight back to eventual control of Congress, and say Halleck is better able to provide that leadership.

In contrast to the Republicans, the 222 House Democrats went into their party caucus with no visible problems.

up truck to go to Mena.

Durand, driving an automobile, forced the truck to stop on state Highway 8 near the Numley Community about eight miles east of Mena.

He made his wife and some of the children get out of the truck.

Bill Vaught of Mena, a passing motorist, said he saw a man fire a pistol at a woman and she fell on the highway.

Vaught said the man loaded the woman's body in his car, put the five children in the vehicle and drove toward Mena. Vaught went to a service station and called Mena police.

Chief Liles stopped Durand's car on the main street at Mena and took him into custody. The officer said the children were "screaming and crying all around in the car."

Liles said Mrs. Durand had been slain with a .22 calibre pistol. She had been shot in the neck.

The children were turned over to relatives and Durand was jailed on an open charge.

New York Center of Baby Black Market

NEW YORK (AP)—A special investigator told a state legislative committee yesterday "New York is the center of the nation's baby black-market."

The investigator told of couples here paying up to $3,700 for the privilege of adopting a baby with little or no knowledge of its origin, parents' mental and physical health background, and other essentials. He said the principal supply sources for the babies are

Miss Bevelyn Elizabeth Ball Marries J. B. Henry

On Sunday afternoon, January 4, the Walnut Street Church of Christ was the scene of the marriage of Miss Bevelyn Elizabeth Ball, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Ball, to J. B. Henry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burke Albert Henry of Texarkana.

Bro. F. R. Tipton officiated at the double ring ceremony. Nuptial music was provided by vocal soloist, John Alach Ross of McCaskey. The candles were lighted by Miss Glenda Ball, sister of the bride, and Miss Barbara Johnson of Little Rock, cousin of the groom.

The father of the bride, gave her in marriage. She wore a traditional wedding gown of white satin. The full skirt had inserts of chantilly lace in the back, and the satin bodice was covered with lace. The scoop neckline dipped to a "V" in the back. The long sleeves of chantilly lace ended in tiny points over the hands. The bride's shoulder length veil of illusion was edged in embroidered lace and fell from a coronet of satin, lace, seed pearls, and sequins. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace which was the gift of the groom. Her bridal bouquet was centered with an orchid, and she also carried a lace handkerchief which had belonged to her great-great grandmother. The handkerchief is a traditional part of the wedding ensemble for brides in her family.

Vows were exchanged before an alter decorated with ivy, baskets of white gladioli, and cathedral lilies.

Miss Dorothy Ball, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a silver metallic dress made in the empire style with a sweep of chiffon in the back. Her bandeau was silver and her accessories were pink. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Miss Margie Clark and Miss Linda Purle were the bridesmaids. Miss Clark wore a blue metallic dress with pink accessories and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Miss Purle wore a pink metallic dress with blue accessories and carried blue carnations. Their dresses were fashioned like that of the honor attendant.

The flower girls were Misses Judy Tipton and Julie Lafferty.

They wore pink taffeta dresses with flowered pink boudoirs. Miss Nancy Carol Ross and Master John Mark Lafferty were the ring bearers. Miss Ross was dressed similarly to the bride.

30 Killed in Explosion in Turkey

By WEBB MCKINLEY

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) —

Thirty persons were believed killed and 100 seriously injured in a thunderous explosion this morning that shattered two crowded four-story office buildings in old central Istanbul.

Three of the dead were passengers in a bus which was passing and was crushed by the debris.

One of the building owners said the explosion appeared to come from a warehouse in the rear in which chemicals and other inflammable goods were stored.

One of the two buildings was completely crumbled. The other, housing the newspaper, looked as it's back and had been sliced away.

The explosion occurred at the height of midmorning traffic. Police cordoned off the area and stopped all traffic. Ninety minutes later victims still were being dug from the debris.

Windows were shattered and the streets covered with glass for several blocks in all directions.

West Assured of Access to Berlin

By WARREN ROGERS JR
WASHINGTON (AP) Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan was reported today to have assured the United States of continued free Western access to Berlin.

Such a pledge would go to the heart of the current East-West tangle over Berlin's "future." It would signal a major concession by the Kremlin to the West's objections to Soviet demands to make a "free city" of Berlin. Mikoyan was understood to have told high-level State Department business and congressional leaders Monday night:

"The Soviet Union is determined to turn over administration East Berlin to the puppet East German Communist regime, regardless of U.S.-British-French denunciation of the plan."

The Soviet Union is not trying to throw the Allies out of West Berlin, even though Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, in a Nov. 27 note, suggested withdrawal of all Allied troops from the city.

The Soviet Union simply feels the time has come, 13 years after the end of World War II, to give Berlin a new status.

The United States, Britain and France, in replying last week to Khrushchev's note, were remiss in not coming up with some counter-proposal which might have provided the basis for negotiation.

The Soviet decision to hand East Berlin over to East Germany by next May, in no way implies a peace-or-war ultimatum; continued free access to Berlin, 110 miles inside East Germany, could be arranged and a role may be found for the United Nations to play in guaranteeing this.

The 63-year-old Mikoyan, second in Kremlin power only to Khrushchev, laid these cards on the table in replying to questions at an elusive dinner given for him by Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Assn. of America.

Johnston was apologetic afterward for inviting some newsmen and letting others shiver outside his swank headquarters in 13-degree temperature. He said the five invited were "personal friends."

Hovering outside also were about 50 anti-Communist pickets, refugees from Iron Curtain countries. Sparked by former Freedom Fighters in Hungary's abortive 1957 revolt they brandished placards, shook fists and screamed in cadence: "Mikoyan the murderer!"

Mikoyan and his party, arriving for the dinner in a Soviet Embassy Cadillac, paid no attention to the pickets.

Mikoyan conferred for 95 minutes with Secretary of State Dulles at the State Department Monday, primarily about Berlin. After ward, he said he will talk about Berlin and other tension topics with President Eisenhower on Jan. 19 or 20.

He is due back in Washington Jan. 19 after visiting several American cities. It was learned he will fly at 8 a.m. EST Wednesday to Cleveland to confer with industrialist Cyrus Eaton. The American millionaire recently conferred in Moscow with Khrushchev and Mikoyan.

After Cleveland, Mikoyan goes Thursday to Detroit and Friday to Chicago, with stops later at San Francisco, Los Angeles and New York, Boston and Philadelphia. An expected Dallas visit was tentatively ruled out.

Mikoyan and Dulles used almost identical language in describing their 95 minute noon time talk. Each said they discussed Berlin, the whole German question, disarmament and trade. Informed officials said that was just about the order of importance, with Berlin and Germany hogging most of the time.

These officials also said nothing was decided in the Dulles-Mikoyan meetings. Either Mikoyans out-of-Washington visits, they are expected to come to closer grips with what Mikoyan called "a further exchange of views."

Durand, driving an automobile, forced the truck to stop on state Highway 8 near the Nunley Corn mukly about eight miles east of Mena.

He made his wife and some of the children get out of the truck. Bill Vaught of Mena, a passing motorist, said he saw a man fire a pistol at a woman and she fell on the highway.

Vaught said the man loaded the woman's body in his car, put the five children in the vehicle and drove toward Mena. Vaught went to a service station and called Mena police.

Chief Liles stopped Durand's car on the main street at Mena and took him into custody. The officer said the children were "screaming and crying all around in the car."

Liles said Mrs. Durand had been slain with a .22 caliber pistol. She had been shot in the neck.

The children were turned over to relatives and Durand was jailed on an open charge.

Castro Rivals Talk Way Out of Rift

By LARRY ALLEN

HAVANA (AP) — Rivals among Fidel Castro's revolutionary forces apparently talked their way out of a rift today after the military commander had put the entire province under martial law.

A dispute between Castro's 20th of July Movement and a student group calling itself the Directorio Revolucionario over control of the presidential palace delayed the entry into the capital of Provisional President Manuel Urrutia.

Gen. Camilo Cienfuegos, Castro's army and navy commander in Havana province, then declared martial law and in effect threatened a renewal of a general strike by calling on workers to protest the student's continued occupation of the palace.

After a crowd gathered, the police group announced it would turn the building over according to previous agreements. It then began handing over palace guards who had been kept prisoner by the students since Fulgencio Batista's New Year's Day flight.

The student group made plain, however, that they wanted to be consulted by Urrutia about the composition of his government.

"I'm seeking a little advice," Mr. Smith said, with a smile, as he entered our office.

"I'm going to build a new house. It will cost about $20,000 including the land. What kind of fire insurance coverage would you recommend?"

"The best course," I said, "especially with new construction, is to add the replacement cost endorsement. For a dwelling you'll have to carry at least 80% of the completed cost of the building."

"In your case, that shouldn't be much more insurance than you'd need anyway. Because the loan company will insist on $14,000 coverage. Deduct the cost of the land, architects fees, and other standard exclusions, and your total insurance value will probably be around $18,000. And 80% of that figure is $14,400. So it takes very little extra insurance to bring it in line for the replacement cost coverage."

"I continued, "You'll like that type of insurance. In event of a partial loss, there'll be no loss adjustment or dissatisfaction over loss adjustments, because nothing will be withheld for the wear and tear or depreciation of the damaged portion of the building. And, of course, in the event of a total loss, you'd get full replacement up to the limits of the policy."

"That sounds good," Mr. Smith said. "Fix it up."

"Can we fix it up for YOU too?"

Chapter XXXII

"But what about Emmy?"
"Nothing. You are all staying here."

He thought, If she cries, I don't know what I'll do.

She said, "You mean you don't want me?"

Having said it, she felt anger rise in her like a boiling tide and knew exactly how he had felt when she hadn't carried the baby, when he had looked at her afterwards with such seeming fury.

"What, for instance?" he asked patiently. He pushed her from his knees and stood up. "Susie, you've always trusted me."

"Is that all?"

There was no use trying not to tell her. He answered vaguely. "He said it could be any one of a number of things."

"Well, the spastic business aside, heart, for instance."

She was controlled, she was also ashen.

"At your age?" she asked.

"At any age. Step looking at me like that."

"She said, "I'll telephone Mr. Conley, from next door. He'll close up for us. I can pack in no time."

Adam, don't just stand there. Lie down and rest. Emmy will be fine, you know how she and Boy can sleep in a car."

"Susie, get yourself together. I know I'm not tearing off."

She said stonily, "I know this is a good man. I liked him. But we are going home, to our own doctor and hospital."

"Sit down." He took her by the shoulders, not urgently yet not carefully either, and tried to bend her into a chair. Her knees were rigid. He said, "Susie, I am going—eventually—to the clinic. The doctor set things in motion."

Her chin shook. She said, "But why?"

"Please, Susie, listen." His voice was as cool as an autumn night. "One of the best clinics in the country is much nearer than home; and some of your best doctors. I'll see one first of all. I'm going by train in the morning."

She said, "Then he must believe ... he must think ... you could fly, it's a short flight, and he doesn't go high."

"I know, we discussed it. But the train trip's short, too."

She thought. Hes taking no chances. She said, distracted,

After a while Hope said, "I Wish you'd talk."

He couldn't repeat anything he hadn't told before. He repeated it patting, slowly, in those words. The doctor did not believe this attack and his previous history added up to more than the doctors at home had believed, merely, his idle insides ... So the pain wandered; it was an unstable pain. He couldn't remember the word the doctor had used: "Oh, yes, referred." Sounds like an employment agency," he interpolated. Yes, his pulse had been jumpy and accelerated; but he'd had a bad night, and it might have been due to his nerves; the whole thing, possibly.

The local doctor did not have the electrocardiograph machine; that would be at the specialist's. "What happens after the specialist?"

He said carefully that he could of course, be checked at the clinic. "I don't understand how you got an appointment for tomorrow—I thought all specialists were busy."

Adam explained that the doctor had telephoned the specialist from his office; they had been in medical school together. "A personal favor. Don't look like that, Susie."

"Like what?"
"Stretchers, ambulances, oxygen. My appointment isn't until early afternoon. The train leaves—is it about nine?—I can order a taxi. I don't want to leave you without the car."

"Emmy and I will drive you."

"All right. I'll check into the University Club before I see the doctor."

"When will you know?"

"In due time." He was sorry for her, sorry for himself. "It isn't the end of the world."

Court Docket

CITY DOCKET

George Ed Hayden, Failure to yield right of way, Forfeited $10 cash bond.

Albert Rhodes, Harold Douglas, Ervin T. Nes, John Mill Powell, Speeding, Forfeited $5 cash bond.

Wendell Rogers, Running stop sign, Forfeited $5 cash bond.

Herman Turline, No driver's license, Plea guilty; fined $5.

John Mill Powell, Reckless driv-

Charlotte Jean, When she was shot by bullets in her arm and head.

However, neither the infant or the other child present, Sue Elen, 5, was injured.

The detective said Scott had bullet wounds in his head and chest.

Police quoted Dr. A. J. Brizzi, whose office is on the fourth floor of the Donaghey building, as saying he saw the couple in his office yesterday but noted no trouble between them.

Officers reconstructed the shooting this way:

Scott apparently left the doctor's office ahead of his wife and waited for her at the stairway. When she appeared, he shoved her into the stairway and the shooting followed.

He said, "All right. I'll check into the University Club before I see the doctor."

"Daddy pushed Mamma through a door and then Daddy killed my Mamma."

The Scotts also are survived by a third child, 18-month-old Norma Jo.

NAACP Income Set at Million Dollars

NEW YORK (AP) — The Nacional Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People reported yesterday that its income last year exceeded one million dollars for the first time.

Roy Wilkins executive secretary, said the NAACP annual machine was $1,017,471, but that the organization had a deficit of $1,183 for the year.

Wilkins said the NAACP "must press the school desegregation fight through the courts and in the arena of public opinion." This he said, would be expensive, "requiring far more than we have given it thus far."

Wilkins told approximately 500 members from various parts of the country that the NAACP must work to "secure a change in the filibuster rule in the Senate so that civil rights legislation will not be choked off by southern filibusterers."

He said the NAACP also would work for new civil rights legislation and for registration of Negro voters in the South and North. He said it would "offer protection to our members who are harassed through intimidation and economic reprisals."

Wilkins reported that NAACP membership, as of Dec. 10, was 305,519, a nine per cent increase over the corresponding date in
